

Grammar Point Summary

by Chinese2020.com

【看来 - it seems, apparently】

看来 can be translated as "apparently" or "it seems" and is used by the speaker to introduce his understanding of a situation. It is from your perspective. You are omitted here.

看来他非常饿 He seems very hungry.

看来, 学习中文还是大大地有用的!

Apparently it is very, very useful to learn Chinese.

看来坏人是不会改变的

Apparently bad guys will not change.

看来他不来了, 都这么晚了。

It seems he's not coming. It's already so late.

看来你玩得不高兴, 怎么这么早就回来了?

I guess you didn't have a good time. Is that why you came back so early?

现在看来, 他还没有那么坏。

Now it looks like he isn't that bad.

在 + Person + 看来... If the person is added into the expression, it means "from one's perspective".

在我看来, 不会花钱的人就不会生活。

The way I see it, people who won't spend money aren't going to know how to live.

在他看来, 公司大小不重要, 重要的是老板好不好。

According to him, the size of the company isn't important. What's important is whether or not the boss is good.

在我们大家看来她是班上最美的女孩。

From our view, she is the most beautiful girl in the class.

